The best classical indian theatre trains performers to master expression, deepen emotional understanding, and command strong stage presence. It shapes a person from within by building physical awareness, vocal power, mental focus, and emotional balance, creating disciplined and confident artists.